Online Survey for Community Plans

Union, SC. Union County and the City of Union are developing Comprehensive Plans and as a part of community outreach, electronic surveys are available for residents to complete. The short survey gives participants an opportunity to share their ideas on challenges and possibilities for the City and the County.

“We hope all residents, business leaders, youth, community partners and stakeholders engage in this process and help us plan the future of our community,” stated Harold Thompson, Union Mayor. “With the involvement of our entire community, the plans that are developed will be based on a shared vision and the implementation of these plans will positively impact our residents.”

People interested in sharing ideas for the future of Union County and the City of Union are encouraged to complete a survey during October. Links to the survey can be found on Union County’s website www.countyofunion.org; City of Union’s website www.cityofunion.net; and Catawba Regional Council of Governments’ website www.catawbacog.org. Printed surveys are available at Union County Courthouse, Union City Hall, and the Union County Tourism and Workforce Development Office, 103 W. Main Street (Previously the SC Works Location).

“Residents are able to provide feedback on community development, recreation, natural resources, housing, economic development, and transportation, including transit alternatives related to a proposed transportation program for Union County,” stated Frank Hart, Union County Supervisor. “The input provided by residents will be incorporated into plans for the community as we move forward together.”

The Comprehensive Plan, mandated in the South Carolina Planning Act, is a reflection of local values. The required elements of the plan include population, land use, priority investment, housing, transportation, economic development, community facilities, cultural resources and natural resources.
